

Navy Was Never Like This . . .

"Let's have more moonlight sails," agree June Pettigrew, left, and Vincent Evans, right, as they enjoy the ocean breeze at the moonlight sail on the Park City steamer Friday evening, August 1. This excursion on Long Island Sound was one of the many activities sponsored by the university during the summer session. More than 300 students were on hand and several alumni returned to see old friends, brave the waves, and join the dancing on the deck. The party at Fairfield Beach, the formal dance at the Longshore Country Club, and the bang-up tennis tournament on the Fairfield campus were equally as gala.

Membership In Extra-Curricular Clubs Open As Program Planning Starts

Seven extra-curricular clubs offer students a wide choice of activities and provide additional opportunities for undergraduate leadership. Fall programs will be planned shortly after college gets under way next week.

Extra-curricular activities rate high at the University of Bridgeport. The clubs, a popular and outstanding feature, are many and varied, covering a wide range of choices.

I. R. C.

For those interested in national and international affairs there is the International Relations Club, with many associate branches throughout the country, formed under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

I.R.C.'s main purpose and aim is to gain an understanding of foreign countries through study and discussion.

As a result, the members have adopted five main objectives:

1. To better understand the relations among the nations of the world.
2. To promote an interest in international affairs of importance.
3. To better realize the advantages, weaknesses and virtues of our country.
4. To attempt to understand the basis for the attitudes of nations.

Evening Advisory Program In Operation

Along with a more convenient system of scheduling classes, a continuous evening advisory program has been set up and is already in operation. Advisors in the new program are William F. Allen, social sciences; Dr. E. H. Falk, languages; James Jackson, fine arts; Maurice Ozer, business administration; and J. J. Sherry, science and engineering.

5. To become better citizens of our community and country.

Debates and discussions on world problems and controversial issues are held, with students, faculty members, and guest speakers participating.

The club has also sponsored many well-known speakers and world experts such as Dr. Khalil Totah, executive director of the Institute of Arab American Affairs, Dr. Hans J. Morgenthau, associate professor of political science at the University of Chicago, and editor of "Peace, Security and the United Nations," and, recently, Cord Meyer Jr., spokesman for the World Federation to Prevent Another War, and president of the United Federalists Inc. David Owen Long is the faculty advisor of this distinguished club.

Pen-Friendship

Students interested in receiving first hand accounts of life in Germany and France today may join the Pen-Friendship Club sponsored by Mrs. Rosa Dembo, language teacher. Members of this club are afforded the opportunity of corresponding with the people of France and Germany.

Le Cercle Francais

Le Cercle Francais, under the guidance of Dr. Eugene Falk, attempts to create and sustain an interest in the French language and customs, both national and provincial, by offering its members comprehensible views of French culture. To facilitate this, pictures and exhibits of French life and customs are on display in an exhibit case on the second floor of the Main Building.

In addition, meetings are further enlivened by first hand accounts and informal discussions by members on French life, art, music, literature, and (Turn to Page 3, Please)

New Buildings Nearly Ready As College Opens for 1947-8

Vets' Mass Registration Is Planned

Veterans Administration representatives will be at the college to conduct a mass registration in order that subsistence payments may be received promptly. The veterans will be divided into two groups: first, those entering the college for the first time under the G. I. Bill; and second, those former veteran students who attended this past spring or summer.

Details for this registration will be posted on the Veterans bulletin board in the Main Building; therefore veterans are urgently requested to be on the look out for this information. Failure to cooperate with this registration will result in an additional delay of one or two months in receipt of subsistence payments.

Change in "Leave" Procedure

Beginning with this Fall Term, veterans will automatically be interrupted at the end of 15 days from the date of the closing of the preceding term, unless, the veteran has arranged for a termination at an earlier date. Veterans requesting that their subsistence be cut off at the end of the semester must request this in writing 30 days prior to the end of the term. For example, veterans who have enrolled for the school year, 1947-48, will complete the Spring Term, May 29, 1948. They will automatically be carried on the payroll through June 13. Such additional time (15 days) will be charged against the veteran's entitlement time.

Convocation Is Sept. 29

Both new and returning students will be welcomed at an All-University convocation at the Klein Memorial auditorium Monday, Sept. 29, at 11 o'clock. President James H. Halsey will preside and several other members of the administrative staff will explain how to find what at the University of Bridgeport.

TRANSFER CREDIT IN NEWS COURSE

Journalism 215-216 will be offered this year. This deletes Journalism 107-108 and Journalism 109-110. The new course carries transfer credit of six semester hours. There is no plan for offering Journalism 209-210 and 211-212 this year.

Plan Chorus, Orchestra

Music will occupy a much larger place in student life this year with the establishment of a chorus and an orchestra, under the direction of Professor Edward F. Byerly. Both activities will be carried on as regular courses, will meet as regularly scheduled class periods, and will carry credit toward graduation. Students planning to elect either of these activities are advised to see Mr. Byerly before planning their program, so as to avoid conflicts in classes.

A mixed chorus of 50 and possibly a male quartet are in the offing. A public engagement is planned for October in New Haven, with possible broadcasting and a Christmas program also being planned. Trios, a women's chorus, and a glee club may be developed later.

Most players for the orchestra must have their own instruments. Those who have ever done any playing and are interested are asked to see Mr. Byerly before registration.

A Christmas program is first on the performance schedule, although no definite program has been worked out. Especially needed are stringed instrument players, always the nucleus of a good orchestra. Orchestra development will depend on those who wish to participate. If possible, a brass quartet will be organized later, Mr. Byerly said.

SOUTHHOUSE NAMED EVENING ASSISTANT

James W. Southouse, a JCC graduate, has been appointed executive assistant for the evening division. Miss Anne Hubina has been named executive secretary for the evening classes.

Permanent Marina Classrooms To Be Completed Soon

New classrooms—new laboratories—new library—new dormitories—new snack bar! Yes, the University of Bridgeport is a-building. Temporary classrooms will be used until the new classroom building is completed on the Marina Campus some time this fall.

Large Library

The new building will contain elementary and advanced laboratories for biology as well as a preparation room. There will be ten general classrooms, one of which will be used for secretarial science. The library and stack room will occupy one entire wing and will be four or five times as large as the present library on the Fairfield campus. A conference room, a general office, and offices for two deans and an evening session administrator are also included in the new building.

The old Barnum carriage house is being remodeled so as to include a new snack bar and a lecture hall seating 150 students. The new snack bar may become known as "The Stable" in keeping with the stalls which are being built into the present appointments and the additional items being secured for atmosphere.

Two new buildings to be used as men's dormitories at 286 Park Place and 110 Waldemere Avenue have been acquired.

Fairfield Hall on the corner of Fairfield Avenue and Norman Street, a girls' dormitory last year, has been remodeled to house the offices of the president, vice president, Deans Ropp, Tillett, and Scurr, public relations and music departments.

More Than 2500 Expected To Enroll

About 1500 day students have been admitted to the University this fall and from inquiries that have reached the evening division, an enrollment of similar number is expected in that section.

Approximately 900 of the day students are veterans, 5 per cent of whom are women. Judging from past experience, the evening administrators are also expecting that 60 per cent of the student body will be veterans and that they will come from all over Fairfield county, New Haven county, Danbury, and as far south as Port Chester, New York.

In the day division there will be more than 600 members of the freshman class, almost 700 sophomores, and about 200 juniors, more than half of whom attended the University last year.

Of the 195 students who will occupy the five University-operated dormitories this year, 74 are women while more than 50 per cent of the dormitory men are veterans.

The admissions officers have announced that no more students will be admitted this semester and that there will be no more room in the dormitories until February.

Three Evening Class Certificates Awarded

Three certificates for evening school work were granted at commencement exercises Sept. 14 to Frank Baird, certificate in accounting; Thomas Chadwick, certificate in accounting; and Edward Elliott, certificate in industrial management.

Good Luck, Chum. Barnum Would Love It . . .

Judy Puths, left, and Ralph Schaefer congratulate each other as the women leave Seaside and move into Marina, and the men move in the opposite direction. With moving going on in classrooms, faculty offices, etc., we too should share in the reemployment. Looks like a busy year ahead!

On Your Mark!—

Hello, Joe, How's The Boy!

Well, folks, we're on the stands again. At the suggestion of editor-elect Ginger Waldman, a pre-season Scribe has been prepared as a welcome to the campus. To those of us who are returning to these "halls of learning," it seems like old times to be in the bustle again, after a rest period since summer commencement or perhaps since last June. To those of us who are here for the first time, we know that if you will take part in everything that's offered, it won't be long until you too are a part of the life here.

Now that the institution has become a university, there is naturally a little uncertainty in various quarters as to how things are going to be done this year. There is a logical reason for such a feeling. Just as the very word "university" sounds grown up, so are many of the thoughts that will go into 1947-48 operations.

Let's explain a little. When we were in grammar school, we were regulated and directed in every move we made—and came out with some sort of basic common knowledge. When we were in high school, we were allowed to move around with considerably more freedom — and came out with varying degrees of knowledge and in various subjects. All of us were now far different in our accomplishments, one from another. Now we find ourselves just beginning to rub elbows with a business, industrial, and adult world. Our familiarity with it goes back but a few years. In the university we are surrounded by many who have had long experience with the things that will be expected of us, and these people want to help us.

They will help us. But they can go only so far. Beyond that it is going to be up to us to determine what kind of persons we will be at the end of this period of training. Subject matter? Yes, we'll be given almost more than we can handle. But the ultimate value of our time spent here will depend on something more—how we get along with our fellow students in classes and activities, our advisers and instructors. If we can work effectively with these, and get results, the chances are that we will be ready to work anywhere, get along with our co-workers, and get results.

Business statistics show that 80 per cent of those who are fired from jobs are not fired because they can't do their work but because they can't get along with others, because they haven't learned how to adapt their thinking to other people's thinking.

Well, so much for that. This isn't supposed to be a sermon. It's September, 1947, and all the world's ahead. Let's have a good time and go to it.

Thirty Are Added To University Staff Including 11 Plus With Ph.D. Degrees

New students are not the only ones who will have to learn new names and recognize new faces, for returning sophomores and juniors will also be greeted by thirty new faculty and administrative members this fall.

Among the new administrative members is Dr. Francis Dolan, associate director of admissions, who received his A.B. degree from Manhattan College and his Ph.D. degree from the University of Gottingen.

Mr. Walter Wannerstrom, the new recorder, received his B.S. degree from the College of the City of New York and has been on the administrative staff of Brooklyn College since 1938.

Three additions have been made to the mathematics and engineering department. Mr. Robert V. Bruce, formerly an instructor for the ASTP and combat engineering program, has his B.S. degree from the University of New Hampshire and his M.A. from Boston University. Mr. Bruce will teach both mathematics and history, while Miss Curtis Ledford, from Mercer University, will teach mathematics.

Mr. Francis J. Dillon will conduct classes in surveying and engineering drawing. Mr. Dillon has been engaged in highway and bridge design and has been a consultant engineer in Edinburgh, Scotland, in the United States Army, and at Columbia Records, Inc.

Many attending the college before the war will recognize the familiar face of Dr. Charles B. Goulding back on the campus. Dr. Goulding, who received his bachelor's, master's, and doctor's degrees at Yale, was at one time head of the English department and dean at Urbana University, and was a member of the English department at the Junior College of Connecticut until 1943, when he decided to take up farming. Professor Goulding will handle courses in literature this fall.

Another new face in the English department will be that of Dr. Rose. Dr. Rose received her B.S. degree from Columbia, her M.A. degree from Maine, and her Ph.D. degree from Columbia.

A new English department man who is about to get his doctorate from Columbia is Mr. Milton Millhauser, who has been teaching at the College of the City of New York, from which he received his bachelor's degree. He has an M.A. from Columbia.

Mr. Charles H. Jacobs, who has joined the library staff, has a B.S.Sc. from Boston University, and was formerly librarian at Victor, N. Y., and at DeVeaux School, Niagara Falls.

Dr. John G. Gill, no stranger to the summer school Spanish students, will join the regular staff this fall in the department of foreign languages. Dr. Gill received his bachelor's degree from Ottawa University, his master's and Ph.D. at Harvard. In addition to having taught at Harvard and Columbia, Dr. Gill gave conversational courses to soldiers on army transports.

Another new member of the department of foreign languages is Dr. Eric Marcus from College "Le Portique" in France, who received his Ph.D. from the University of Greifswald, Germany. He has been editor of leading newspapers in Germany and has worked for papers also in Austria, Switzerland, and Czechoslovakia.

Two more dormitories are added to the swelling list of University buildings as 286 Park Place, left, and another house on Waldemere are added to the list of men's residences. Men also are housed in Seaside and Fremont Halls, while women are now located in Wistaria and Marina. This puts four of the six dormitories on the Marina campus, where the entire University will eventually be located.

Early Start On Wistarian Is Planned

Work on the college yearbook, the Wistarian, will probably get under way much earlier than usual this year. Those wishing to work on the project—juniors, sophomores, and freshmen—may leave their names and phases of the work in which they are interested with the adviser, Mr. Kellogg (Fairfield Hall, second floor). Wanted are editors (plural), photographers, staff writers, layout people, artists, business agents, typists, and what have you. As soon as a student organization and staff can be arranged, they can set up their program, let their contracts, and get the book under way.

The business manager will have to consider a printer, engraver, cover manufacturer, and photographer in making out his operating budget. On the income side of the ledger, he has now a larger student body to figure on. The more books that can be ordered, the smaller will be the cost per book, or, to put it another way, the more can be put into the book (adv.)

The editor in general will have to plan the book from cost estimates made by the business manager, arrange his or her staff, set up a production schedule, and see that the various deadlines are met, month by month. For best results, it is considered wise for 80 per cent of the book to be completed the first semester, but the printer's schedule will allow some variation in this matter.

Take Your Questions To Simonds Beehive

Social Activities Calendar Is In Committee Hands

The social activities committee will ring in the night life of the school year at an All-University affair to be planned immediately after the opening of the fall session. This year an attempt will be made to have a social activities committee composed of one member from every organization on the campus and the chairman of each social event will be chosen from this group.

The first definitely scheduled activity will be a dance in the Marina ballroom on Saturday, Oct. 4. All dormitory students will be invited.

Among future events which the social activities committee will plan are the traditional Christmas Ball, the Sweetheart Dance, the All-University Picnic, the May Wistaria Festival, and the Spring Formal Promenade.

For a more eventful and more exciting 1947-48, all campus clubs are urged to organize immediately and to choose their representatives to the social activities committee. In addition, anyone who is interested in social affairs may become a member of the committee by applying to Miss Elizabeth Muller, director of social activities, in Simonds House.

"Can't I get three more hours of credit?" asks Joe, a junior this fall. His question is addressed to Dr. Francis Dolan, Associate Director of Admissions, who is "on deck" in Simonds House to help students with many of their scholastic problems.

"How close am I to graduation? Will I qualify?"

"Step back into that office and check with Mr. Walter Wannerstrom, the recorder. He's in charge of that," Dr. Dolan replies.

At this moment, Cynthia and Gwendolyn approach the front door. "We want to change our schedules," ask the girls of Mrs. Johnson at the information desk.

"Mr. Alfred Wolff, Assistant Director of Student Personnel, will help you with that—upstairs, first door," answers Mrs. Johnson.

Waiting to see Mr. Wolff, the girls notice in the office next door, Mr. Floyd Brewer, men's counsellor and director of student activities and Miss Elizabeth Muller, women's counsellor and director of social activities. "Oh, we'll have to see Miss Muller about that party Friday night."

"And where is the veterans' office?" a raucous voice sounds somewhere. "In the basement—entrance at the rear."

"Yes, Simonds House is a beehive," say Mr. Chauncey L. Fish, Director of Student Personnel, and Mr. Earle M. Bigsbee, Director of Admissions and Registration, who are also located there.

Scribe Is Planned As Bi-Weekly Under Waldman, Desmond

This issue of the Scribe was put out with the assistance of Mae Wood, who has been working on the campus this past summer. The first regular issue of the paper will be out Oct. 10, under the direction of Ginger Waldman and business manager Bill Desmond. Those wishing staff positions should contact these people or leave their names with Mr. Kellogg to pass on to the editor and business manager.

The schedule made out for the year shows an issue out every second Friday, except for long vacations and examinations. The total will be more issues than last year. Next year it is planned to have a weekly institution.

The Scribe office is on the second floor of South Hall, at the right at the head of the stairs, and don't stumble coming up.

"We were judged 'First Class' last year," Editor Waldman says, "and we'll be trying for an 'All-American' this year. At least it'll be a lot of fun trying."

This is Volume 19 of the Scribe, indicating that the paper began its career back in 1929, not long after the founding of the institution. This year it has its first issues under a University's banner.

Mr. Arthur W. Phillips, who will join the chemistry department this fall. Mr. Phillips received his B.S. degree from Tufts and his M.A. from Harvard. He has taught at Tufts, Harvard, Massachusetts University, and has been associated with the Oxford Paper Company, the chemicals branch of the War Production board, and Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company.

Miss Grace Grimsley, sister of Miss Henrietta Grimsley of the biology department, will be a member of the chemistry department. She received her B.S. degree from Queens College and has recently been a chemist for the Evans Research and Development Corporation in New York.

A large part of the vocational guidance, job placement, and testing work will be taken over this fall by Mr. Robert F. Jessup, who received a B.A. degree from the University of Minnesota and a master's from Columbia. He has been a counsellor in camp

'I'm In The University Now'

The pen that made the University of Bridgeport a reality was handed to Gladys Kost by Governor James L. McConaughy, left, after he signed the charter on May 8. Both Gladys, Wisteria Queen of 1947, and John Cox, last year's freshman class president, who also watched the university draw its first breath, will always take pride in having had a real part in helping to make their college into a university.

University To Join In Rededication Week Program And Ceremonies Here

Bridgeport is one of the 300 cities to be visited by the Freedom Train as a part of the American Heritage program being carried on throughout the United States during the coming year. American Heritage Week in Bridgeport will begin Friday, Sept. 26, and last through Thursday, Oct. 2, when the famous train will be in the city, located on State Street Extension.

The program in the city will center around Women's Day, Friday, the 26th; Veterans Day, Saturday; Church Day, Sunday; Industry and Commerce Day, Monday; Labor Day, Tuesday; School Day, Wednesday; and Freedom Train Day, Thursday, Oct. 2.

University To Have Part
The University of Bridgeport will take a part in observing the occasion at the time of the general student assembly next Monday. Details of that and of additional plans will be announced later as the program is developed.

For the first time more than one hundred of the nation's most priceless documents, including the Bill of Rights, the Emancipation Proclamation, and contemporary manuscript copy of the Declaration of Independence attested by Benjamin Franklin, have been taken from Washington and are being borne about the country. In this way millions of American citizens will be able to examine at first hand the instruments of the country's freedom and greatness, and to rededicate themselves to the nation's ideals. It is planned to have a mass short rededication ceremony of University of Bridgeport students, probably at the assembly.

95 Courses Are Planned For Evening

Registration for evening classes will begin Monday evening, Sept. 22, and will continue through Sept. 26, each evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. Classes will start Monday, Sept. 29.

The wide variety of courses offered for evening study by the University is a continuation of the policy of making higher education available to adults, recent high school graduates, or those who because of family responsibilities or for other reasons are unable to pursue full schedules of day classes, Mr. Kendall said.

The teaching personnel available for the evening classes include most of those teaching in the day schools, plus special technical course instructors connected with many Bridgeport industrial and professional firms. Social activity, library facilities, participation in alumni affairs, and publications are open to evening as well as day students.

Heads New College . . .

of the College of Business Administration during the summer. He holds a B. S. degree from Cumberland University, B. E. and M. S. degrees from North Carolina State college, an L.L.B. degree from Wake Forest college, a M. S. degree from Stevens Institute, and a J.S.D. degree from St. Lawrence university. Dr. Tillett holds professional licenses in accounting, law, and engineering and was recently head of the department of business administration at Hofstra college.

Another new man, who will teach mechanical drawing, is Mr. W. Sel-den Steiger, who received his B.Sc.Ed. and his M.A. degrees from Ohio State University. He has also taught at Ohio State.

Miss Dorothy A. Bohlen will become assistant dietitian at Wistaria hall and Miss Marilyn Murphy will manage the snack bar at Marina. Both nutritionists are graduates of the New York Institute of Dietetics.

Transcript Policy Is Changed

After Oct. 1 a fee of one dollar will be charged for all transcripts of record after the first transcript, it was announced today by Mr. Walter Wannestrom, recorder. This supersedes the present policy of allowing four transcripts without charge.

politics. Motion pictures and colored slides are also shown frequently.

Spanish Circle

Mr. William Pratt is adviser of the Spanish Circle whose aim is to further the interest in Spanish and Hispanic American life and culture through informal discussion, guest speakers, and films on Pan-American life. The Circle has also acquired a collection of Latin American and Spanish records which it hopes to augment in the future.

Library Society

Those popular "Books and Coffee Sessions" last year were sponsored by the Library Society which had Dean Helen M. Scurr as its faculty advisor. At these meetings literature, old and contemporary, was reviewed by teachers and students. The novel feature of these "Sessions" was the serving of coffee and cookies.

In addition, the Library Society also sponsored several films as well as such noted speakers and reviewers as Dr. Wendell Thomas and May Bradshaw Hays.

Dramatic Club

An outlet for the talents of neophyte thespians is provided by the Dramatic Club and Community Theater under the direction of Miss E. Faye Jones. Last year these organizations produced such plays as "Death Takes a Holiday," and "Ten Little Indians," as well as numerous one-acters.

This year the recent Broadway hit "Dark of the Moon," based on the Barbara Allen ballads, by Howard Richardson and William Bierney, has been scheduled tentatively for fall production.

Anyone interested in either the acting or production end, need only join the Dramatic Club to be eligible.

Chess Club

The Chess Club, organized last spring by Mr. Simon Mowshowitz, mathematics instructor, plans to continue its tournaments, and, in addition, to sponsor exhibition matches, guest speakers, and also to provide instruction in chess for beginners and amateurs.

Club sponsors are requested to elect representatives of their clubs who will turn in to the Clubs Editor information concerning meetings, activities, and other items of interest for publication in the Scribe.

Further information about these clubs may be obtained from the bulletin board in the front corridor. Meeting dates will be set soon after college opens.

N. Y. Embassy Records Aid French Club

The French embassy in New York has promised to assist in the activities of the foreign language clubs at the University of Bridgeport and has made a generous gift of records to the French club. Reproductions of all important nineteenth century French paintings have been acquired recently and efforts will be made to provide clubs with phonographic record collections and other things of interest. It is hoped also that foreign motion pictures will be shown and foreign play productions promoted.

Developments in the language courses this fall include new courses in French and German literature and in advanced Russian, Dr. Eugene H. Falk, department chairman, has announced. Also, business correspondence will be included in the work of both intermediate and advanced Spanish.

"The study of foreign languages is a window toward the world," Dr. Falk says. "In many fields of study it is necessary to have recourse to sources which are not accessible in our own mother tongue. Also, we should be able to understand the world, not from without, but from within. These things are possible with the understanding of foreign language."

H. A. Kendall Is Evening Director

Harry A. Kendall has been appointed acting director of the evening sessions of the University of Bridgeport, a post left vacant by the recent advancement of Dr. Harry A. Becker to be dean of the Junior College of Connecticut unit of the university.

He joined the faculty as an instructor in the Social Science department in 1945, and has been an administrative assistant during the past year. Before coming to the University of Bridgeport, Mr. Kendall was with the 1st U. S. Infantry division, serving 38 months overseas in Africa, Sicily and Europe, and participating in eight major campaigns.

Library In State Of Flux

The library is in a transient state, partly packed, partly unpacked, ready to go, ready to stay.

Because of this hectic condition:

1. Students using reference and reserve books will be given first preference for seats.
2. All books, brief cases, etc. will be checked upon leaving.
3. Books will be charged out for a two week period, may be renewed. Two cents a day overdue fee.
4. Reserve books go out at 9 p.m. and come in at 9 a.m. Fines for these will be ten cents for the first hour and twenty cents for each additional hour.

'Here I Am Again,' Says Evening Student . . .

Everett Ide, Bridgeport, a safety engineer, enrolls for his third year of evening school classes. He is shown here conferring with Dr. E. F. Falk, right. "I work all day and study evenings, so I can continue to improve myself," said Mr. Ide. An advisory program is carried on for both day and evening students in the university.

Six Sports Listed On '47-'48 Schedule

Lined up for competition during the 1947-48 season are teams in basketball, swimming, baseball, track, tennis, and golf, reports Coach Herbert Glines. Competition will be begun with four-year colleges, he says, while continuing a regular schedule with teams in the Connecticut Junior College Conference.

The court schedule already lists 13 games, with probably seven more to be added. A tilt with the alumni during Thanksgiving vacation will open the season in the Knights of Columbus hall, where all home games will be played. A junior varsity game will precede most of the varsity games, the coach said. In addition to eight Junior College Conference games, the varsity are listed so far to meet Arnold College twice, New Haven Teachers College twice, and Hofstra College, Long Island, once. It is also planned to have a dance after every home game.

Asked about swimming, which sport has not been conducted here before, Coach Glines says that no schedule will be arranged for the present, at least until it is determined that there is sufficient student interest to warrant undertaking a schedule. So, splash and splatter lads, if you want a ducking, pass the word along to Coach that you're "willing."

Oct. 28 Set For Class Elections

Affairs will again be placed in the hands of students when returning members of the President's Student Advisory Council will act as the nucleus of a committee which will probably plan class elections this fall.

At present, plans call for an all-class assembly Oct. 7 from 11:15 a. m. to 12:05 p. m. at which time the election committee may explain the procedures. Klein Memorial auditorium will be used Tuesday, Oct. 28, in case the election committee needs another period to clarify plans.

Any student who is interested in running for office should give his credentials and a photograph to Mr. Floyd Brewer, director of student activities, since his office will be a clearing house for all student affairs. Mr. Brewer will in turn see that the material is turned over to the student election committee.

The Cadets are flying again!

The U. S. Air Force now offers you the chance of a lifetime to start your career in aviation.

If you want to learn to fly, you have one of the finest opportunities ever offered in peacetime. Aviation Cadet pilot training has been reopened to qualified applicants presently serving enlistments in the Army, and to civilian young men who can meet the same high standards.

In order to be eligible, each applicant must be: a single male citizen, between 20 and 26½ years old, of excellent character and physically fit. He must have completed at least one half the credits leading to a degree from an accredited college or university, or be able to pass a mental examination given by the USAF. He must now be living within the continental limits of the United States.

Upon successful completion of the training course, Cadets will be rated as pilots, commissioned Second Lieutenants, and assigned to flying duty.

Reactivation of Aviation Cadet pilot training is only one of the several choices open to outstanding men who want increased responsibility and advancement in the field of aviation. It is now possible for qualified men to apply for attendance at USAF Officer Candidate School — and thus be able to equip themselves for such important specialties as engineering, armament, administration and supply.

You have a real chance to make progress and build a sound career for yourself in today's U. S. Air Force. Talk it over with the Recruiting Officer today at any U. S. Army and Air Force Recruiting Station.
